Lily's Weekend at the Eco-Park

Lily had always been interested in nature, but she had never spent a full weekend in the countryside. When her school announced a trip to an eco-park, she was excited but also a little nervous.

When they arrived, the group was divided into teams and given different tasks. Lily's team was responsible for planting trees and taking care of the vegetable garden. At first, she found it difficult because the soil was dry, and the weather was hot. However, after some time, she got used to it and enjoyed working with her classmates.

In the afternoon, they had a nature walk with a guide who explained the importance of protecting the environment. Lily was amazed by how many plants and animals lived in the forest. She even saw a deer for the first time!

At night, they sat around a campfire and shared stories. The stars above them were bright, and Lily realized that she loved being outdoors.

When the trip was over, she felt sad but grateful. She had learned many new things and decided that she would spend more time in nature in the future.

1. She had never traveled without her family.
2. She was afraid of sleeping in a tent.
3. She didn't know how to plant trees.
4. She didn't like school trips.

B. What did Lily's team do at the eco-park?

1. Collected leaves.
2. Took care of the vegetable garden.
3. Cleaned the river.
4. Built a wooden cabin.

C. What surprised Lily during the nature walk?

1. She saw a deer for the first time.
2. She found rare flowers.
3. She learned how to build a fire.
4. She discovered a hidden cave.

Hi Ben,

Thanks for your email! Learning to play the guitar sounds great. In my free time, I enjoy photography. I started this hobby two years ago when I got a camera as a birthday gift.

At first, I only took pictures of my family, but later, I started exploring nature photography. I love capturing beautiful landscapes, animals, and even the night sky. It's amazing how photos can tell a story!

Do you want to play the guitar in a band one day? Looking forward to your reply!

Best,
